

GEG - GEOGRAPHY

GEG 120 3 credit hours (lecture: 3 | lab: 0)

World Regional Geography

Course analyzes regions of the world. Content includes looking at patterns and distributions of economic, political and social organizations of different nations, to gain global perspective on current world events; focus is on aspects of development and underdevelopment using representative regions as examples.

IAI General Education: S4 900N

Delivery mode: Face-to-Face | Hybrid | Online

GEG 122 3 credit hours (lecture: 3 | lab: 0)

Cultural Geography

Course studies contemporary world cultures and their interrelationships with geographic structure and regions, to gain a global perspective on current world events. Content includes human origins and distribution; population, migration, health, climate, culture, language, settlement, industry and agriculture.

IAI General Education: S4 900N

Delivery mode: Face-to-Face | Online

GEG 130 3 credit hours (lecture: 3 | lab: 0)

Introduction to Economic Geography

Course introduces economic geography. Course explores global patterns of economic activity including the exploration and analysis of production, exchange and consumption patterns. Stages of economic development and country and market forces are explored. Includes the adaptation of humans and their physical environment including differences in economic development. International alliances, globalization and technological innovation explored due to the economic interdependence among people, regions, and nations.

IAI General Education: S4 903N

Delivery mode: Face-to-Face | Online

GEG 290 1-4 credit hours (lecture: 1-4 | lab: 1-4)

Topics In Geography

Course explores major issues in the field of geography. Topics will be selected from subspecialties such as: elements of the environment; population geography; the rainforest; and development and industrialization. Course has different focus and/or scope from other courses currently offered in the department and can be repeated on different topics up to three times for up to nine semester hours of credit. Fee Varies. Prerequisite may vary by topic.

Delivery mode: Face-to-Face